Dear Mr. Bell:

In reviewing our byproduct materials license 20-15990-01 and during a discussion with one of our customers, we find that under conditions, item 14, we have not included a provision for maintenance training.

We, therefore, would like to request an amendment under item 14 to include the following:

The licensee shall also be authorized to conduct courses in maintenance training for employees of organizations using TRACER-flo equipment.

Our policies regarding maintenance training are extremely strict. We only train up to six people per class. Also only individuals which have successfully completed the initial training and are listed as competent users on their respective license can be considered for training.

It appears that during our initial application we failed to include maintenance training. However, we have been conducting these courses for some time under our existing California license (enclosed).

We appreciate your consideration regarding the proposed amendment.

Very Truly Yours,

James R. Gibson
