SUBJECT: WORKING GROUP MEETING ON INTERNATIONAL
NUCLEAR REGULATOR COORDINATION

On January 16 - 17, 1997, a working group of senior regulators from Canada, France, Germany, Japan, Spain, the United Kingdom, and the United States met to develop the concept of an independent and formal association through which senior national nuclear regulators might share their experience and coordinate policy approaches to nuclear safety.

I made the introductory presentation (Attachment 1) which outlined options for membership, possible organizational structure, the need to develop relationships with other international regulatory forums, and a proposed timetable for formally implementing the association.
