

The extension is necessary because both counsel for CANT will be out of town for ten days during the period set for preparation of their brief (from March 28 to April 7, 1997).¹ Thus, without an extension counsel for CANT will not have sufficient time to prepare a response to the briefs filed by LES and the Staff.

The Staff has no objection to this motion. LES alleges that it "cannot agree" to this motion. The very brief extension of seven days requested by CANT will have no effect on the Commission's overall schedule for reaching a decision on LES's license application, as major portions of the case are still before the Licensing Board.

Accordingly, CANT respectfully requests that the Commission grant a brief extension so that CANT's responsive brief is due April 17, 1997, and LES's and the Staff's reply briefs are due May 1, 1997.

Respectfully submitted,
