REQUEST FOR EXTENSION

The Joint Intervenors, Wells Eddleman pro se, and the Emergency Planning Joint Intervenors hereby request extensions of time for filing briefs as follows: until January 30 for both the appeal brief due January 22 on emergency planning and safety issues, and the supplemental brief due January 27 or soon thereafter on ocean dumping of low-level radioactive waste. The reasons for this request are the fact that Wells Eddleman has been called for jury duty in Durham County on January 20 and has extensive other work obligations to perform; and John Runkle, counsel for the other intervenors is similarly involved in numerous hearings and cases. Further, we have had some difficulty in assembling the information required for the ocean dumping brief.

Counsel for applicants has no objection to either of these extensions. Counsel Charles Barth for the staff has no objection concerning the ocean dumping supplemental brief, and has authorized us to state that he will "interpose no objection" concerning the extension for the emergency planning and safety brief.

Therefore, we respectfully request that the appeal board grant these extensions of time and state further that Wells Eddleman will provide overnight delivery to the Appeal Board of the ocean dumping supplemental brief if requested.
