Dear Mr. Powell:

Jay Gouley
Correspondent

This is a Freedom of Information Act request for all agency documents (whether or not generated by your agency) pertaining to any activities of David Hahn (b)(6), (b)(7)(C), (b)(7)(D).

Jeffrey L. Moog

Hahn was a minor who conducted weekend science experiments based on information from the Nuclear Regulatory Commission. The experiments led to radioactive pollution at 2776 Pinto St., Commerce Township, Mich., where his mother lived. The pollution brought about an emergency response by Region Five of the Environmental Protection Agency. That response included the removal of a shed behind the Pinto St. home in about July 1995. The incident was brought to the government's attention when the Michigan Dept. of Environmental Quality called the Environmental Protection Agency after DEQ was consulted by local police. The resulting incident would have involved communication with local authorities and with other United States agencies, and possibly with foreign authorities.

Margaret A. Savage
Systems Manager

I have enclosed three documents to reduce the need for Privacy Act redaction. They include waivers from Hahn, who is no longer a minor, and from Michael Polasek, who owned and still owns the Pinto Street property. I have also enclosed a copy of the death certificate of Patricia Williams Hahn, David Hahn's mother, who lived at the Pinto Street address and who died February 14, 1996.

This request is made in my capacity as a correspondent for Natural Resources News Service for no other purpose than public dissemination that will foster understanding of your agency's work. As a result, I ask that you waive search and copying charges. Please proceed with the document search pending a decision on that request. You may consider this letter as my promise to pay at least $50 should my request for a fee waiver be denied.

Sincerely,

Jay Gouley

Subject: RADIOACTIVE MATERIALS/HOAX EXPLOSIVE FOUND IN TRUNK OF CAR

On August 31, 1994, at 11:05 a.m. (CDT), Region III (Chicago) was notified by the State of Michigan Department of Health that a potential explosive device and radioactive materials were in a tool box located in a trunk of a vehicle. The vehicle was at the Clinton Township Police Department which is approximately 15 miles north of Detroit. The State of Michigan Department of Health dispatched a Health Physicist to the site with survey equipment, and Michigan State Police explosive disposal experts responded.

At 1:45 p.m. (CDT) Region III was notified that the tool box contained no explosives, but did contain radioactive materials believed to be publicly available; lantern mantles, americium from smoke detectors, etc. The Clinton Township Police are in possession of the materials and the Michigan Department of Health are assisting. The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) is supporting the state and local agencies in disposing of the material.

The owner of the vehicle was arrested on August 30, 1994, for an unrelated charge, and told police that radioactive materials were present in the trunk of his vehicle. While searching the trunk, the police discovered 100 mercury switches and a tool box taped closed, padlocked and wrapped in aluminum foil. The tool box was treated by the Michigan State Police as a "potential improvised explosive device" until adequate precautions were implemented when the individual refused to open it and stated that it was dangerous.

Region III coordinated the early response. The EPA is the lead federal response agency of the incident in accordance with the Federal Emergency Response Plan. The EPA Region V and the Detroit, Michigan EPA offices were notified by NRC Region III. The information in this preliminary notification has been reviewed with the State of Michigan and the EPA.

Region III notified the NRC Operations Center at 11:05 a.m. (CDT) on August 31, 1994. This information is current as of 2:00 p.m. (CDT) on August 31, 1994.
